DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 12-24 have been cancelled by Applicant.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I (claims 1-11, 25-34 in Paper No. 9 is acknowledged.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-4, 9-11, 25-30 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1-34 of copending Application No. 09/993,908 (DEY ET AL) in view of HWANG ET AL (US 5,883,188).

Art Unit: 1773

Copending Application No. 09/993,908 claims the recited laminate, layers, color and transparency characteristics, and articles made from said laminates. However, the copending Application does not explicitly claim the recited maleic anhydride modified styrene block copolymers polymer.

HWANG ET AL discloses that it is well known in the art to modify styrene block copolymers such as SEBS with up to 5 wt% maleic anhydride (claims 1-4, 27) in order to form interlayers with improved adhesion to paint or coatings.

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the styrenic block copolymer tie layer claimed in the copending application with maleic anhydride in order to improve the adhesive properties of the layer.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-9, 25-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 00/30849 (hereinafter WO '849);

in view of SMITH ET AL (US 6,187,233);

Art Unit: 1773

and in view of GERLOWSKI ET AL (US 4,996,086) or MACHADO ET AL (US 5,369,180).

WO '849 discloses a multilayer laminate comprising a polyketone layer, a tie layer, and a thermoplastic polyolefin layer, wherein the tie layer comprises a maleic anhydride-modified SEBS block copolymer optionally modified with a diamine compound as recited in claims 2-8, 31-34. However, the reference does not explicitly disclose a laminate with a clear coat layer or automotive trim components.

SMITH ET AL discloses that it is well known in the art to obtain thermoformable laminates comprising a colored base substrate and a upper clear coat layer having a transparency of preferably 90% in order to produce durable automotive trim articles (abstract, line 37, col. 8 to line 10, col. 9).

GERLOWSKI ET AL or MACHADO ET AL each disclose that polyketones are capable of forming transparent or clear layers and films. (GERLOWSKI ET AL, lines 3-10, col. 6) (MACHADO ET AL, lines 65-68, col. 6)

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize a transparent polyketone polymer as a protective clear coat surface layer in the laminate of WO '849 in order to form laminates suitable for forming durable and colorful automotive trim components.

3. Claims 1-4, 9-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over HWANG ET AL (US 5,883,188) in view of SPAIN ET AL (US 5,284,693).

Art Unit: 1773

HWANG ET AL discloses multilayer laminate comprising a paintable layer and a thermoplastic polyolefin layer, wherein the paintable layer comprises a maleic anhydride-modified SEBS block as recited in claims 2-4. (columns 6-7) However, the reference does not explicitly disclose a laminate with a clear coat layer or automotive trim components.

that it is well known in the art to modify styrene block copolymers such as SEBS with up to 5 wt% maleic anhydride (claims 1-4, 27) in order to form interlayers with improved adhesion to paint or coatings.

SPAIN ET AL discloses that it is well known in the art to use polyvinyl fluoride as a clear coat layer over a colored underlayer of a thermoformable laminate in order to improve durability and weatherability (lines 20-32, col. 11).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply a known polyvinyl fluoride top coating to the paintable layer of HWANG ET AL in order to provide a protective clear coated thermoformable article.
